TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 23. 1736.

To the DAILY GAZETTEER.

SIR,

H E bold Abuse of History the Author of the Craftsman hath been so justly charg'd with, and so often convicted of, doth not seem to create in him the least Remorse :
He hath ransack'd all our Civil Chronicles for invidious Parallels ; he now begins to dip into Ecclesiastical Hi- storian, to shew us that he is capable of making as perverse a Use of them as the other.

In the Craftsman of October 23, he saith thus, Satire, an Ecclesiastical Historian of the Fifth Century, informs us, that one Perigenes was the first Prelate that ever swap'd his Diocese for another. He was first ordained Bishop of Patras, and afterwards was constituted Bishop in the Metropolitan See of Crithis: As to the Year of his Translation, the Historian is silent ; but Valesius in his Note upon this Passage remarks, that he was present in the Eusebian Synod, conven'd against Nestorius An. 431, or 434, from whence it follows, that no such thing as the Translation of a Bishop, was ever heard of till long after the Three first Centuries.

So unhappy is this Writer in his Citations, that in this very Passage he refers to, * Socrates sets himself to prove the direct Contrary to that which the Craftsman voucheth him for, viz. That the Translation of Bishops from one See to another, had in his Time been an ancient Custom.

For in Opposition to those that were against the Succession of Proclus to the See of Constantinople, affirming that there was a Canon that forbid such Translations, he saith thus : * They who take upon them to affirm this, in my Opinion, are much in the Wrong : And seem to affirm it either out of Spite to Proclus, or thro' Ignorance of the Canons and useful Customs which have obtain'd in the Church.' — Again, saith he, ' Among our Forefathers it hath been a customary Thing for Bishops to be translated from one City to another as often as Occasion requir'd.'

NAY, so far is Socrates from affirming, what this Writer makes him, that Perigenes was the first Prelate that ever swap'd his Diocese for another ; that in the same Paragraph the Craftsman refers to, he directs us to an Instance out of Eusebius, of the Translation of Alexander from a See in Cappadocia to that of Jerusalem ; which was at least 200 Years before this Translation of Perigenes: For that according to Eusebius was in the Reign of Antoninus Caracalla, about A.D. 216, this, according to the Craftsman, about A.D. 432.

PERIGENES is the first indeed, that stands in that List of Translations which Socrates gives us. But since this was in the very Time of Socrates, who with the same Breath declares that such Translations had been a usual Thing among the Antients, and refers to an Instance of one above 200 Years before that ; with what Face can the Craftsman affirm, that Perige- nus was the first that was translated from one Bishoprick to another ; that Socrates inform'd him so, and that no such Thing as the Translation of a Bishop was ever heard till long after the Three first Centuries ?

This is enough to convince the World of the Conscience and Impartiality of this Writer in his quotations.

I am, SIR,

Yours, &amp;c.

Edinburgh, Nov. 16. On Monday last the new Theatre in Carrubber's Close was opened (which is thought by all Judges to be as compleat, and finish'd with as good a Taste, as any one of its Size in the Three Kingdoms) when the following Prologue was spoken by Mr. Bridges.

LONG has it been the Bus'ness of the Stage,
To mend our Manners, and reform the Age.
This Task the Muse by Nature was assign'd, E'er Christian Light shone in upon the Mind :
Ev'n since those glorious Truths to Men appear'd,
Her mortal Precepts still have been rever'd,
And where the sacred Monitors have fail'd, Just Satire from the Stage hath oft prevail'd.
Tho' some sour Criticks, full of Phlegm and Spleen, Condemn her Use as hellish and obscene ;
And from their gloomy Thoughts and want of Sense, Think what diverts the Mind, gives Heav'n Offence, Would such from Truth and Reason form their Sample,
They'll find what's meant for Precept, what Example ;
Nor think, when Vice and Folly shall appear,
The Characters were drawn for them to wear.
Fools in their native Follies should be shown,
And Vice must have its Language to be known.
To such this Lesson then we recommend,
Let each mend one, the Stage will have its End ;
Good Sense shall flourish, Reason triumphant reign, And Hypocrites no more their Power maintain ;
The Muse shall once again resume her Throne,
And our Stage vie with Athens or with Rome.
Long in those Realms she held her rapid Flight, Filling their Minds with Profit and Delight :
Till in despight of Sense, and Wits Disgrace, Dull Ignorance a while usurp'd her Place,
For many Ages bore the Palm alone,
And wild Buffoons deserv'd her sacred Throne.
But late at length she reach'd Britannia's Shore,
And Shakespear taught her once again to roar.
At last transplanted by your tender Care,
She hopes to keep her Seat of Empire here.
To your Protection than ye Fair and Great,
This Fabrick to her Use we consecrate ;
On you it will depend to raise her Name,
And in Edina, fix her lasting Fame.

Thursday last the Gentlemen of the Name of Brown in and about this City, had a grand Entertainment at the Spread Eagle Tavern ; when, among other Healths, they drank to Lewis XV. (Bourbon) King of France, as chief of the Clan.

On Friday last the Right Honourable the Earl of Breadalbane, my Lord Belhaven, the Lord Glen-orchy, and other Persons of Distinction, were presented with the Freedom of this ancient and august Metropolis, in the Borough Room ; when the Magistrates drank to their Lordships, the King's Health and happy Return, the Queen, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and all the Royal Family, &c. At each Health a Volley from the City Guard.

Wednesday last the very Rev. Commision of the venerable Assembly sat down. Twas (after Prayer) proposed by Mr. Daniel Hunter, Minister at Carnock, that a national Fast should be appointed, and the Reasons therefor drawn up by a Committee ; but it being objected, that the ascertaining the Reasons, might rather tend to engender Strife, than promote Edification, twas dropt.

Ordered 20l. Stirling be paid to the Executors of Mr. Matthew Crawford, Professor of History in this University, for some manuscript Volumes of ancient Chuch History, found in his Library.

Heard a Letter from the Synod of Argyll, ratifying the Sentence of Deposition of Mr. Daniel Maclauchlan Minister at Ardnamurchan, passed by the Presbytery of Mull ; and advised that Presbytery to proceed in taking Proof of his being Author of the Pamphlet justifying Fornication, and which being proven, to inflict the highest Censures of the Church.
Heard also a Letter from the said Mr. Maclauchlan, declaring his having renounced the Principles of the Church of Scotland ; and that, touching the Pamphlet in Question, he was still in the Custody of the Government upon that Account.

The Rev. Mr. James Tyrie, who lately abjur'd the Romish Religion, is appointed Chaplain to the Garrison of Fort William and the Town of Inver-lochy, in the room of Mr. George Anderson, who is put upon the Itinerant Establishment.

Saturday last a Fire broke out in Mr. Blait's Work-house at the Colt-bridge, a Mile hence, occasioned by the Kettle boiling over, in which was contained the Blubber of the Whale mentioned in our last. It seems the Servant who attended, not understanding the Nature of Oil, when it arose high in the Kettle, threw in Water, which raised it to a Flame, which consum'd the Work-house ; but the Damage was not considerable.

Bath, Nov. 19. This being the Anniversary of her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales's Birth, the same was celebrated with the utmost Demonstration of Joy and Respect ; in the Morning as soon as light, the Union Flag was display'd on the Abbey Tower ; then ringing of Bells in all the Churches of the City : At the Pump and Rooms, the greatest Appearance of Nobility and Gentry honour'd the Day ; a Publick Breakfast was given by William Woolaston, Esq; at Mrs. Lovelace's, and nothing was seen on this Occasion but Transports of Loyalty.
At Noon a Volley of Patterneons were fired over the City Wall in the Grove (now call'd Orange Square, in Honour to his Royal Highness the Prince of Orange's Recovery at Bath) where round the Obilisk, erected by Richard Nash, Esq; on that Occasion, were the following Illuminations, viz. round the Pedestal which was illuminated with Candles, then Battlements, then the Prince's Name curiously drawn in a Cypher, and illuminated with her Coronet over it, in Crimson Silk ; from thence to the Top of the Obilisk, Snail Creep and Pediments ; then an Entabliture, finely illuminated ; from the Center was erected a Globe 2 Foot Diameter, representing an Orange. In the Evening ringing of Bells, and the finest Fire-works ever seen in this Place were play'd off from the Abbey Tower, and other Parts of the City : It concluded with the most splendid Ball ever seen in this City, and a Collation for the Company. The whole was manag'd by Richard Nash, Esq; to universal Satisfaction.

L O N D O N.

The Hon. Edward Brabazon, Esq; Brother to the Earl of Meath, with his Lady and Family ; Counsellor Belcher of the Middle Temple, Son to the Governor of New England ; William Phelps of Gloucester, Esq; George Rochfort, Esq; Capt. Webb and several other Persons of Distinction, are just arrived from Ireland ; as are also large Quantities of Linnen Cloth.

We hear from Gallway in that Kingdom, that the Walpole of Liverpool, laden with 260 Hogsheads of Tobacco, was cast away in the late Storm upon that Coast, and 7 of the Men drown'd ; as was also a Vessel bound for that Port with Tobacco, Hops and Bottles from Bristol.

This Day Fortnight General Napper's Regiment of Horse was muster'd in Oxmantown Green in Dublin by Capt. Matthews, and made a fine Appearance.

Capt. John Pope, formerly of that Regiment, died next Day of a Mortification in his Stomach.
His Death is much lamented, as well for his many good Qualities, as on account of his Bravery in the late Wars, when he serv'd the Campaigns in Flanders, had been often taken Prisoner, and at the Battle of Ramilles was shot in the Head. He was not only a brave Soldier, but a loving Husband and a tender Father.

Next Day died there very much lamented, the Lady of the Rev. Mr. Archdeacon Vesey.

Dr. Vanluer, who slipped sometime ago and fell with a Penknife in his Hand which wounded him, is said to be past all Hopes of Recovery.

The same Day Laughlin Bergin, Dennis Conner, and Thomas Cahill, were tried and convicted at the King's Bench there for wilful and corrupt Perjury.

Notices have been posted in each of the Four Courts of Dublin, that Sir William Dudley, Bart. intends to apply to the Parliament of Great Britain, for a Bill for Sale of the Manor of Mount Kennedy, in the County of Wicklow, for Relief of the several Creditors who have Debts affecting the same, subject

This Day is Publish'd,

To be had at the Pamphlet-shops at the Royal Exchange,

SOME REMARKS on a New Way of Preaching, proposed in an Ordination Sermon preached at Taunton, Oct. 7, 1730. And likewise on some Queries relating to the same Subject, a Way of preaching which the Author acknowledgeth was never used by Christ nor his Apostles. Together with some previous Animadversions on a Book entitled, Some Thoughts concerning the Proofs of a Future State from Reason.

By J. H. B. A. L.,
Of Horiton in Devonshire.

In which Remarks, are contain'd — a Comparison between a Man and a Setting-Dog. — Explanation of the Words Indivisible and Indiscribable. — Labouché puzzled. — Mr. Ball quizzed by Bishop Wilson. — Hints for a new Translation of the Bible. — Socinus a great Reasoner. — The Idolatry of the Heathen. — Reasons against Sincerity, Reason, and Philosophy. — The Author's mean Opinion of Dr. Whiston. — Mr. Hallyburton's Life and dying Words. — Mr. Grove's Father and Mother no Philosophers. — Blackman and Bloody-bones. — Paul no great Reasoner. — Episcopius a rational Divine. — Dr. Tillotson a Plagiary from Episcopius. — Mr. Whitton's Conference with Sir Isaac Newton and Dr. Clarke. — Dr. Clarke's Sermons a Guide to Hypocrisies. — Mr. Locke above Ordinances. — The late King of Sweden seduced by Mr. Leibnitz. — Mr. Leibnitz a great Genius. — Over-reason'd by Dr. Clarke. — Sir Isaac Newton's Opinion, that he was killed by the Doctor. — With several other weighty Reflexions, recommended to the Consideration of Young Divines and Candidates for the Ministry. All for so small a Price as 3d.

N. B. These are the genuine Contents of Mr. Ball's Pamphlets, which appears to be the Labour of Six Years and which every Reader will plainly see is as false and malicious, as it is weak and impertinent; and only becoming THOSE, who conscious of the Badness of their Cause, have usually avoided a fair Examination, and depended chiefly on Insults and Misrepresentations.

Read, Try, and Judge; Beware of Counterfeits.

The uncommon Success, above Thirty Years past, of the much famed and only true Original

ROYAL CHYMICAL WASH-BALL,

FOR beautifying the Face, Neck and Hands, hath induced many Envious Persons, not only in every Part of London, but in many Places in Country, to sell a Counterfeit White Ball (which may prove prejudicial, as well as ineffectual) in Imitation of the true one.

To prevent as much as possible any Mistakes in Prejudice to our Customers, we give this special Notice, That the true Sort are now sold only at Mrs. King's Toyshop, the Blue Boy, against the Crox-Keys Tavern in Cornhill; and at Mrs. Giles's, a Miliner, at the Blue Ball near Hercules Pillar Alley, by the Temple in Fleet-street. Price 1s. each Ball, or 12 to the Dozen; but no Allowance for less than 12 Balls at a Time, nor will they ever be sold any where else, except Dicey's first given in these Advertisements of it.

Their true and real Virtues have been sufficiently attested in all the Years they have been Sold by Publication, and the same, as they are still more than ever used and admired by both Sexes of the best Quality, and many Thousand of Gentlemen and others, for making the Skin so delicately soft and fine, as not to be paralleled by any Wash or Wash-ball, &c. of any Kind or Form; for these Balls are indeed real Beauties of the Skin, by taking off all Deformities, as Tetter, Ringworm, Morpheus, Sunburn, Scurf, Pimples, Pits, or Knots of the Small-Pox, and keeping it of a lasting and extrem Whitening; they soon alter red or rough Hands, are admirable in staining the Head, they not only give a most exquisite Sharpness to the Razor, but so comfort the Brain and Nerves, as to prevent catching Cold. They are of a grateful and pleasurable Sensation, without the least Grain of Mercury, and may be used for their Safety.
